

StudentTracker® for Educational Organizations

Where do your students go
after completing your program & how can you track their educational achievements?

Ask StudentTracker.

StudentTracker can help your educational organization or outreach program bridge the data gap with accurate data on your students' educational outcomes nationwide (enrollment, persistence and degree attainment) so you can better prepare them for higher education success.

What You Can Do with StudentTracker

- Perform trend analyses on historic graduate records
- Eliminate costly and time-consuming surveys and manual tracking
- Create longitudinal studies on program success
- Assess and improve college readiness policies within your program
- Research unique cohorts of students to measure effectiveness (e.g., STEM, underserved)

What You Can Learn with StudentTracker

Your organization can use StudentTracker to accurately assess the educational achievements of your program participants and answer questions, like:

- What was the impact of any scholarship we awarded?
- How can we measure the postsecondary progress and success of the standardized tests and assessments we administer?
- Can we link assessments that measure skills, knowledge, and interest to postsecondary outcomes?
- Where did my program's former participants enroll in college?
- Did they transfer between colleges?
- Did they receive a degree? If so, which degree and from where?
- What was their college major?
